Swallowed Too Large a Bite.

At St. John's hospital, New York, James Fay, an attendant, was choking to death at the dinner table, when Dr. F. J. Huppert, who was busy in one of the wards, received a hurry call to the dining room.

Fay was black in the face and nearly dead at the table. Dr. Huppert saw that a second's delay meant death, and he pulled out his pen-knife, the keen blade went into Fay's throat and the next instant the knife dropped and the surgeon's finger entered the wound, removing the obstruction and saving Fay's life.

BIGGEST FLOWER IN THE WORLD

Cup of the Rafflesia Will Hold 12 Pints of Water.

The rafflesia is a strange plant, says American Gardening. It grows in Sumatra and derives its name from Sir Stamford Raffles, governor of Sumatra, at one time, and his friend, Doctor Arnold, a naturalist. They were the first white men to discover the wonderful plant. It is said to be the largest and most magnificent flower in the world. It is composed of five roundish petals, each a foot across and of a brick-red color, covered with numerous irregular yellowish white swellings. The petals surround a cup nearly a foot wide, the margin of which bears the stamens.

The cup is filled with a fleshy disk, the upper surface of which is everywhere covered with projections like miniature cows' horns. The cup when free from its contents, would hold about twelve pints of water. The flower weighs 15 pounds. It is very thick, the petals being three-quarters of an inch in thickness. With its beauty one is led to expect sweetness, but its odor is that of tainted beef and Doctor Arnold supposed that even the flies were deceived by the smell and were depositing their eggs in the thick disk, taking it for a piece of carrion.

Never Wears Pajamas.

One of the wages in the republican cloak room is responsible for this story about Representative Ketcham of New York, who is quite deaf.

"Ketcham went to a dinner one night," the tale runs, "and sat next to a woman who tried to make him as comfortable as possible. There was some fruit on the table, and she asked him: 'Do you like bananas?'"

"What's that?" returned Ketcham.

"Do you like bananas?"

"No," Ketcham replied, "I never wear them. I stick to the old-fashioned night shirt."—New York World.

YOUR CASE AND OSTEOPATHY.

You say, "I can see how Osteopathy can cure some things, but I do not see how it can help me."

As usual you have never thought of a cause for your trouble. With slight displacement of ligaments, muscles and bones, with the nerve and spine and ribs, with the nerve and blood supply disturbed thereby, any blood of disease may result, depending on the nature of the interference. The Osteopath can remove this cause in one disease as well as another. The cure then depends upon nature's power to repair the damage.

All curable diseases, acute and chronic, have been cured by Osteopathy. The following is a partial list in which marked success has been attained: Tonsillitis, dyspepsia, constipation, diarrhoea, dysentery, appendicitis, acuties, gall stones, cystitis, enlarged prostate, "gravel," anaemia, goitre, dropsy, la grippe, croup, bronchitis, asthma, hay fever, pneumonia, pleurisy, malaria, typhoid and all fevers, measles, erysipelas, diphtheria, paralysis, epilepsy, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous prostration, eczema, St. Vitus dance, spinal curvature, impotency of men, milkleg, female diseases and rheumatism (in worst forms); many forms of heart disease, deafness, blindness, diabetes, Bright's disease, and consumption (except in far advanced cases.)

Doctors Holmington, graduates under the founder, Dr. Still, will explain any point you wish. Call on them. Despatch block.
